In highlighting the keynote of the Kętrzyn meeting, we aimed to underscore the transformative potential of inclusive, high-quality education in shaping a better Europe. Guests were given firsthand insight into the impactful work of our specialists through engaging in EEG Biofeedback, sensory integration, and rehabilitation therapy sessions. Specially curated integration tasks not only brought immense joy but also provided a fleeting glimpse into the enchanting world of childhood.

The meeting with the young generation and staff in a school, attended by international representatives from city councils, aimed to foster dialogue, exchange ideas and collaboration between local youth and international participants. It provides a platform for students to voice their perspectives, concerns, and ideas on various issues affecting their communities and the world, but mostly focus on green transition. Through interactive discussions and activities, the meeting seeks to empower young people, promote civic engagement, and encourage meaningful contributions to shaping the future of their cities and beyond.

The visit to the Wolf's Lair in Gierłoż offered a profound historical perspective with relevance to contemporary Europe. This site, once a key military headquarters for Nazi Germany during World War II, serves as a poignant reminder of the atrocities of the past and the importance of preserving peace and unity in today's Europe. Exploring the ruins and learning about the events that transpired here provides valuable insights into the consequences of unchecked power and the resilience of nations in the face of tyranny. By acknowledging this history, we are reminded of the need for vigilance against extremism and the imperative of promoting cooperation and understanding among European nations for a peaceful and prosperous future.
